

NOTICE TO CUSTOMERS - REVISED BAF

Date: 5th May 2026

Last week, global fuel prices started to rise again because of the ongoing geopolitical developments and unrest in the Middle East.

As a result, the BAF for week 20 will be increased to 102%, up by 4% points from previous week.

We will continue to closely monitor and assess developments in the fuel markets. Every effort will be made to mitigate the impact on our customers and to reduce bunker consumption wherever feasible. Updates will be sent each Tuesday for the upcoming week until further notice.

Thank you for your understanding and continued support.
